DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

For example, in claim 1, "...electronic parts, which is a plug type connector..." is unclear; in claim 2, "relatively slid" seems redundant; in claim 4, "the circuit board covers an open portion of the plug housing, and a closed cross-section if formed..." is unclear; in claim 5, "incorporated" is unclear; in claim 6, "the substantially same face" and "most backward position" is unclear, etc.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

Art Unit: 2833

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Bethrum (US 5,563,770).

Regarding claim 1, Bethurum discloses a connector comprising: a plug housing 64; a cover housing 62; and a circuit board 50 held by both the housings.

Regarding claim 2, Bethurum discloses the plug housing and cover housing are combined with each other being relatively slid in a direction parallel with a surface of the circuit board (Column 3, Line 9).

Regarding claim 3, Bethurum discloses the cover housing including guide grooves, and edge sections of the circuit board and edge sections of the plug housing are slid in the guide grooves.

Regarding claim 4, Bethurum discloses the circuit board being connected with the plug housing in such a manner that the circuit board covers an open portion of the plug housing, and a closed cross-section is formed by the circuit board and the plug housing.

Regarding claim 5, Bethurum discloses a unit including the plug housing, the circuit board and a contact is incorporated into the cover housing.

Regarding claim 6, Bethurum discloses a forward end of a holding member 12 and an exposed end portion of a lead penetrating the circuit board are located on the substantially same face as the back face of the plug housing, and they are located at the most backward position of the unit.

Regarding claim 7, Bethurum discloses the cover housing including a protruding section.

Regarding claim 8, Bethurum discloses a lock section.

Regarding claim 9, Bethurum discloses the invention substantially as claimed but does not disclose a cartridge of toner. It has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from a prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structural limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).
